VOLUME XLV.

Oriental Commandary Field Day in Norway.

Four years ago the Oriental Commandary of Bridgton celebrated St. John's Day in Norway and such a good time was had they concluded to come here this year. There are a good number of Knights in this village that belong to the Oriental and with those from the home town of Bridgton and adjoining towns a good number assembled at Mason's Hall at 9.30 a. m.
Autos brought many of the visiting Knights though some came by old fashioned teams and by railroads. Some seventy-five were at the hall and some fifty put on uniform and made the parade.
Sir Knight (Col) Albert J. Stearns of Norway rode a horse and was marshaled by the Lunley Castle Band, South Paris, furnished music and they marched through Cottage, Beal and Main streets. Motor boats, autos and teams took the Knights to the picnic grounds at Gray Birch, Pennessawasee Park and headquarters were made at W. L. Gray's cottage.
Louis I. Gilbert seemed to have charge of the eatables and drinkables, ably assisted by E. E. Andrews, L. H. Cushman, E. C. Winslow and others. We might say many others as I was willing to help themselves. Lobsters, ham and chicken sandwiches, potato chips, bananas, coffee, cigars, etc., were served on a pulped board plate with paper napkins. "Help yourself and come again if more is wanted" was the order.
The Lunley Castle Band resolved itself into an orchestra and made sweet strains of music from off the wide veranda of Fred E. Smith's cottage, and dancing and singing followed. Innocent games of pitching horseshoes, raising a flag, trying to play base ball followed. Some made an excursion about the lake in motor boats, visiting friends in the cottages. The hours quickly passed.
The following is a partial list of those present:

Although mid-gets in size they perform the most thrilling feats for their daring. There will also be a good boxing act.

L. P. Bartlett.

Lewis P. Bartlett died at his home, 43 Atlantic Street, Lynn, Mass., Tuesday, June 24. Mr. Bartlett had been in failing health several years, but the direct cause of his death was apoplexy.

Forty years ago he went to Lynn, and became associated with B. F. Spinnay & Co., and for more than a quarter of a century, he has been a member of the firm. The business in Norway was largely under his personal direction. In a business way he frequently visited Norway, and became acquainted with many of the people in this vicinity. He had not been able to come to Norway, for nearly sixteen months. Since the first of the present year, because of his failing health, he has not been actively engaged in business.

He was a member of the Bass Island Club of Lake Pennessawasee, Norway. Mr. Bartlett was a Boston banker. He was formerly of the Merchant's National Bank and had previously been a member of the directorates of the State National and National Exchange banks of Boston. He was 62 years old, and a native of Arlington, Mass. He was a member of the Oxford Club and the Tedesco Country Club.

He left a widow, Mrs. Lizzette Bartlett, and one son, Lawrence V. Bartlett. He was the son of Lewis P. and Marion R. Locke Bartlett, and was born June 13, 1851.

The funeral was held at his late home in Lynn, this (Thursday) afternoon, at 2.30.

After a short stay in Paris and London, Miss Bicknell sails on the steamer "Cymric" for Boston, arriving home about September 4.

A Social Gathering.

Tuesday evening was the occasion of a very pleasant gathering at Mrs. T. H. Sawin's on Main street. As the party entered the parlor, Mary Booker presented Mrs. Ella Dudley with a beautiful oil painting, the gift of Mrs. Dudley's shopmates.

We doubt if many heard the presentation speech, for everyone began to blow horns, ring bells or make some other musical noise. Mrs. Dudley was very much pleased with the gift and expressed her thanks in a suitable manner. Music was enjoyed throughout the evening especially songs by Harry Cox. Appropriate to the occasion, A treat of ice cream and fancy crackers was served.

As the party left, all expressed their best wishes to Mrs. Dudley for her future happiness in her new home.

Mrs. Grover was tenderly cared for by her husband and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Grover, and brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Grover, beside the nurse during her illness. She was a trained nurse during her illness with typhoid fever, but in vain was the skill of physicians and nurse and the loving care of her husband, who had everything done for her that love or skill could think of to relieve, or comfort her last hours. The nurse was also assisted by Alice Hadley.

Mrs. Grover was the daughter of John and Annie (Blodgett) Parker and was born in Strafford, N. H.

She married Alby A. Grover, Sept. 2, 1905, at North Paris. They lived at North Paris two or three years, then moved to Norway where they have lived five years. She was a member of the West Paris grange.

Can You Doubt It?

When the Proof Can be so Easily Investigated.

When so many grateful citizens of Norway testify to benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills, can you doubt the evidence? The proof is not far away—it is almost at your door. Read what a resident of Norway says about Doan's Kidney Pills. Can you demand more convincing testimony?

C. E. Bradford, prop. laundry, Main St.; Norway, Me., says: "Sometimes I had a dull pain through the small of my back, together with a tired feeling. I couldn't rest well. When a friend advised me to take Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Stone's Drug Store. After I used two boxes, the pains left and there was a great improvement in every way. I have had no trouble since."

If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Bradford had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 500 all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props.; Buffalo, N. Y. 26-27

A Severe Sickness Leaves

The Kidneys Weak

After recovering from a severe spell of sickness some time ago, I was all run down and suffering from poor blood. I would have pains in my back and hips and my kidneys bothered me all the time. I started taking Swan's Root and on the recommendation of a friend I found it was just what I needed. My blood became all right and after taking a few bottles, I was surprised at the effect it had on my kidneys. They were entirely cured and I have much to be thankful for that your great remedy did for me.

Yours very truly,

W. O. BLACKMON, Phenix City, Ala.

Tell Us How.

(An appeal to W. W. Maxim.)

"Life's mistakes, wrongs and failures show the way to a better life."

Happy ones! Share your wisdom With us foolish ones, who fail Would repair mistakes and failures, And would make wrong right again.

How can we take a life that's twisted, Twisted and soiled with many a stain, And make of it a thing of beauty And pristine purity again?

While Memory binds us with her fetters, Each soul is shackled to the past. Our chains are clank and rattle at us, And on we would rush ahead too fast.

Then teach us how to walk, once spoken, Can be returned to the "unsaid," How to un-break a heart that's broken,— Make reparation to the dead.

Like Siamese twins wrestle onward— Back to another self is bound— Desire the good, and grasp the evil, Show us the way to firmer ground.

CORA M. W. GREENLEAF.

Written for the Advertiser.

Charity and Forgiveness.

As we journey along through this life, Where all is contention and strife, We ever stop to think of the peace loving

That God into this wicked world did send, To teach us the only true way to live; He taught us in His life that we must forgive; Without the forgiving spirit of religion is vain.

For must we forgive our enemies if heaven we gain, Faith, hope and charity with Christ's Holy Spirit in our hearts?

We need to fear the cold world's scornful darts; No matter how humble the vocation we pursue, We can live honest, upright lives and true.

Our pathway may not be strewn with wealth And all the things that men prize so dearly, But we can rest assured God's richest blessing is ours.

If we through hardships, and trials are forced to roam; A heart filled with Christ's love, charity and will secure to us the Eternal Home.

Mrs. KATHERINE L. PRESCOTT.

Heaviest Cannonade Ever Heard in America.

In the July American Magazine the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, which comes on July 1, is celebrated with an unusual description of the battle by Edgar Allen Forbes.

Coming to the third day of the battle Mr. Forbes writes in part:

"The great hour of Gettysburg is at hand—the hour of the evening sacrifice. The cannoners on Seminary Ridge are grouped behind a hundred massed guns, facing another hundred on Cemetery Ridge, a mile distant. Pickett, his long black hair falling about his shoulders, rides up to Lee and reports that his division is ready. Longstreet also is there, moody and silent, but inwardly rebellious."

"An order from Alexander, chief of artillery, sends the cannoners to their posts behind the cruel engines of death. Two puffs of smoke and flame shoot out from the Washington Artillery, and the work of hell begins with solid shot and shell on both sides. For two long hours the overture continues in a deafening roar—the heaviest cannonading ever heard on the American continent."

"The fire of neither side does any serious harm to the sheltered infantry, but the shells scatter death and destruction among the batteries, where the sound of exploding cannon alone drowns the pitiful neighing of wounded horses. At the 'Bloody Angle' where Pickett's blow is to fall heaviest, here is what is happening:

"Fourth U. S. Artillery, challenged by admiration of all who saw him. Three of his limbers were changed with the caisson limbers under fire. Several wheels were shot off his guns and replaced, till at last—severely wounded himself, his horses all killed or wounded, and with but cannoners enough to man a section—he pushed his gun to the fence, and was killed while serving his last caisson into the ranks of the approaching enemy."

Children's Column.

Bethel, Me.

DEAR EDITOR AND YOUNG FOLKS:—I have looked and looked in vain for your letters. Has the Editor got disgusted with us all? Yes, Pully and Pat, your answer was correct. Now I will give you another:—"A couple of men were talking on the street when a young man passed them. One said, 'Brothers and sisters, I have none, but that man's father was my father's son.'"

See if you can tell us what relation he bore to the young man. Now if I don't see this I shall know that we are too lazy and shiftless to keep the Column, or else they want it for other purposes.

I have a lovely time here. We have four cats and a great big beauty of a dog,—his name is Ben.

I have a half-brother named Benj. Harlow. I also have some sisters and one other brother.

There have been two doves here, one stays most of the time, the other one comes in the morning but goes away again.

My teacher's name is Mary Stanley. She is a dear good teacher.

Good bye all. INA MAY BROWN.

June 15, 1913, West Stoneham.

DEAR BOYS AND GIRLS:—I will write a few lines now for the Children's Column. I am on a farm with my papa and mamma. We have got a pig, a horse a cow, hens, a calf. I go to school. There are 21 scholars in our school. I hope there will be more girls and boys write again. Age 12.

MADE TRIMBACK.

South Paris, Me., June 10, 1913.

DEAR EDITOR:—I am visiting my sister at North Waterford and tomorrow we plan to go to North Lovell.

June 5th there were 21 of my friends hung me a June box and they were all caught. We had made ice cream to have that evening so we served ice cream and cake.

I was 14 years old May 30th, and May 31st I had a birthday party. For presents I had:—1 fountain pen, 2 handkerchiefs, 1 box of chocolates, 1 yard of dark blue ribbon, 1 yard of flowered ribbon, one class pin. I served ice cream and cake.

After the party Florence Leach and I went up to Leona Thayer's to suppend and came home in the evening. Well, as I cannot think of any more I will close.

Yours truly, FANNIE E. MCKEEN, R. F. D. No. 3, box 23.

North Waterford, Me., June 16, 1913.

DEAR EDITOR:—I will write a letter as I haven't written for some time. My aunt is visiting me now. My papa is making a book for Harry Brown. I like his dinner to him most every night.

My school is done. It closed June six, and won't begin till some time in September. I have had a good time this vacation so far. My mamma takes in washings. She does four besides her own.

I have two sisters and one brother. My oldest sister's name is Inez. She is seven years old. My youngest sister's name is May. She is three years old. My brother's name is Gordon Vincent. He is one year old. He can walk and has six teeth and two are swollen up.

My grandpa has two cows and two calves, one pig. For pets, a dog, one cat.

I go to Sunday school when I am not sick. I have been enough Sundays to get a gold pin. I help my mamma a lot. She has said lots of times she didn't know what she should do without me. I help her out a lot. I can get dinner and lots of other things.

They had pictures at the church last night on the Pilgrim's Progress, and we all went but my father and my brother. There is going to be a Circle, Tuesday night. I hope I can go.

It is ten minutes of tea and I must close for I can't think of any more.

From GERALDINE A. McALLISTER.

The Red and White.

The Harrison Grammar School nine beat the Red and White team for the game Against North Bridgton and their failure.

When our pitcher quit the team, it hit us so hard we had to scream. We knew we had no chance to win, and we could not think of giving in. Not an inch, not a mite!

Victory for the Red and White. And we forfeit our expected game, and lose forever our good name. We knew what it meant to lose the game against the camps and the North Bridgton team.

The rest of the season to pass in disgrace. Never again to do our place On the old initial base.

But we won't live a inch—not a mite; Return to the Red and White, But cheer up! a pitcher we will find And so that is off our mind.

We will win the game And you will hear more of our good name For you can't down Harrier and White!

Which Would You Choose?

Are you in love? Did you ever stop to think of it as concerns yourself or did you ever say to yourself, "Am I in love?" The answer is easy, anyone can answer for you, yes!

You may love music, art, books, architecture, or architecture, or the church, Sunday School, or in fact anything good or bad.

We tell others of the good things we love, and the bad we would keep to ourselves. Why do we claim to love good things unless we seek good things, unless we are giving good things to others.
"For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son," St. John 13:16. "And sendeth the rain on the just and the unjust," St. Mat. 5:44.
Are these not samples of love? "In as much as ye have done it unto these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Does this mean anything? Think it over. Has your love been for self or has it been broader?

I know one man who has given his last penny many a time to someone he thought needed it more than himself.
Some would give $10 for an easy chair
but not a cent to the Missions; let their apples rot in the cellar. The clothes that are soiled are thrown away or burned, while Mrs. Jones would give many nice things for her six children.

One need not be rich as John D., to give, for the widow gave more than all the rest. Her's was a genuine gift, no sham or make belief.
I would say, he that lives for and loves himself is miserable indeed. We don't find him at church, nor often in good company.

AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Hilbert Tells of Her Distressing Symptoms During Change of Life and How
She Found Relief.

Fleetwood, Pa.—"During the Change of Life I was hardly able to be around at all. I always had a headache and I was so dizzy and nervous that I had no rest at night. The flushes of heat were so bad sometimes
that I did not know what to do.

"One day a friend
advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me a strong well woman. I am very thankful that I followed my friend's advice and I shall recommend it as long as I live. Before I took the Compound I was always sickly and now I have not had medicine from a doctor for years. You may publish my letter."—Mrs. EDWARD B. HIL-BERT, Fleetwood, Pa.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timor, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite,
weakness and inquietude, and dizziness,
are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

A Subscriber Talks.

This is the season of the year when many are coming to our village to sojourn with us for a few weeks or months.
Surely there has been all in her power to attract visitors to our lake is assured by few in the world for its beauty.
The mountains, standing out in bold relief, make a magnificent background for the intervening rural scenes, and its abundant and fine camping places for those who are driven from the cities to find rest and quiet.

When we realize what nature is doing every year at this time to attract travelers to our village, and to make life seem the more worth living to those who visit that we are here, when we think of this, do we stop to consider whether or not we, as human beings, are doing as much to make life the brighter and happier for those with whom we came in contact.

Many who come to visit with us or sweil indefinitely, soon learn that Norway people are generous to a fault and
way people are generous to a fault and good hearted, but are sadly lacking in loyalty; by this I mean that there is a spirit of unjust criticism which seems to pervade the very atmosphere. Some say every village is given over more or less to gossip of an unkind nature, but those who have lived elsewhere think Norway leads in this sort of thing.

Do we ever stop to realize the harm done by malicious gossip. I have known people being driven from our town to seek a home elsewhere by no more or less than idle gossip, perhaps thoughtlessly made but none the less destructive to the happiness of someone.

I have known people who are incapable of saying the least unkind word against friends and are yet who listened with evident pleasure to the malicious gossip of others against them.

Why not be more loyal and reflect not so much on the faults of our neighbors as upon their virtues. Then again why do we concern ourselves at all about other people except in so far as we can help abolish crime and alleviate suffering.
This we can never do by adverse public criticism.

Haven't most of us enough to do to see to it that we ourselves are treading
in the paths of virtue, without investing some years whereby someone else's character is assailed, or life made miserable.

Not a week passes in our village when there are not circulated at least a dozen stories of a scandalous nature, everyone of which is absolutely false and groundless.

It seems as if we all might be better employed. If we confined ourselves to righting real wrongs, striking at evils, whenever they exist, that would be commendable; but to spend our time talking about imaginary wrong doing, injury this or that one's reputation, seems nothing short of a crime.

We often hear unkind remarks made against our summer visitors. Because we tried to be a track year in and year out, we should not any longer be permitted to recreate for a brief period upon having God's beautiful country in which to dwell the year round.

I have noticed this effect of malicious gossip upon our young people. "Something is wrong with the home training when children are allowed to repeat what they hear in other homes."

They should be so taught at home as not to repeat what they hear, even to their parents.

If we question them and urge them
to tell all they hear when visiting, we simply plant the seeds of gossip.

Let us then for the sake of the rising generation find something better to do than saying unkind things about our neighbors or meddling with things which do not concern us.

Tobacco, Like Food, Must Be Fresh To Be Good

And tobacco cannot keep fresh after it is cut up, any better than bread or meat can. To get fresh tobacco, you must cut it off the plug yourself, just before it goes into your pipe. That's the way you use Sickle tobacco—that's the reason it burns slowly, and always affords you a cool, sweet, satisfying smoke.

Tobacco that comes already cut-up, in packages, gets dry and stale—burns fast and hot, and bites your tongue. The original flavor and moisture cannot escape from the Sickle plug—they are pressed in and kept in by the natural leaf wrapper.

More tobacco—fresh tobacco—no package to pay for—no waste—that's Sickle tobacco. Get a plug at your dealer's today.

Cy Larkin.

By GERTRUDE I. BARROWS.

"Cy Larkin can always catch a good string of pickers!" was said by his neighbors who were not always as lucky in the angling line.

It is probable that there were off days occasionally when the fish did not bite but if there were Cy did not speak of it very generally any more than he did his lucky day. He was very uncommunicative to most of his neighbors for the reason they criticized his easy going sort of life. But Cy had some friends and confidants with whom he shared his fish stories and what was better a fine string of pickers or trout. (These friends were those who took Cy as he was.)

Fish were seemingly not much afraid of Cy for the reason perhaps that his rough, dark profile so silent and motionless against the sky was much like that of the protruding stumps and snags all around in the sluggish outlet of the lake where Cy trolled for pickers.

Often in summer before the sun had peeped over Mt. Quito, which overlooked the village, Cy would be off through the fresh, dewy fields to the pond or brook. What joy is a trip to such a spot?

The few times that I have been out in the first streaks of dawn are mile-stones, almost for the freshness of their memory. There is a peculiar impalpable atmosphere with the rest of the world all wrapped in slumber. There is a sweetness about the air and earth, and a loveliness in the sky and across the fields and hills that gives one a deep joy to be alive.

Whether or not Cy is glad to be alive, he felt the fish biting which occupied all his attention, till the sun came blazing down too bright for further angling.

Then he would pull ashore the old boat and saunter homeward at step to gather herbs and roots for the "patent medicine" which he made. For Cy manufactured a medicine out of herbs, roots and barks which he sold occasionally and it was considered "perfectly harmless" by those who took it. Catnip entered in a large proportion, also thoroughwort and wild sassafras. The size of the dose as prescribed on the bottle was "one swallow after meals and at retiring"—nothing said about the size of the swallows. Probably that much matter much. Nothing mattered much to Cy as long as he could live his kind of life. His neighbors could worry over their crops; he had no crop to worry over, and all kinds of weather suited his business. To a true fisherman it does not matter so much how many or how few fish he gets; it is the fun of fishing. The true philosopher does not worry over getting much or little. He is much like the fisherman only he fishes for contentment and truth and joy instead of fish, and there is joy in "just the fishin'".
